HOWEVER, AS IT APPROACHED IT APPEARED TO HAVE TWO RED LIGHTS UNDERNEATH WHICH TENDED TO FORM A V; THERE WERE WHITE-ORANGE COLORED LIGHTS WHICH WERE JUDGED TO BE INTERIOR LIGHTS. THE ENTIRE OBJECT WAS SURROUNDED BY A LIGHT GREEN HALO EFFECT. (D) ONE (E) N/A (F) THE RED LIGHTS UNDERNEATH TENDED TO FORM A V WHICH GAVE THE APPEARANCE OF A MAIN BODY WITH A GONDOLA OF SOME KIND

APPROXIMATELY THREE MINUTES AFTER THE FIRST SIGHTING SHE NOTICED THAT THE OBJECT WAS MOVING AND HAD COME CONSIDERABLY CLOSER AND SHE INSISTED THAT SOURCE LOOK. WHEN SOURCE FIRST SIGHTED THE OBJECT HIS FIRST THOUGHT WAS THAT IT WAS MOST LIKELY A WEATHER BALLOON BEING RELEASED AT PORT COLUMBUS. THEN IT ASCENDED VERTICALLY AT A VERY SLOW RATE TO WHAT THE SOURCE JUDGED TO BE 3000 FEET. THEN IT STARTED ACCELERATING IN ALMOST LEVEL FLIGHT TOWARD THE SOUTH-WEST AT AN EVER INCREASING RATE. (E) WHEN LAST SEEN IT WAS AT AN ALTITUDE OF APPROXIMATELY 500 FEET. GOING AWAY FROM SOURCE AT EXTREMELY HIGH SPEED AND DISAPPEARED (F) THE ENTIRE OBSERVATION FROM THE TIME FIRST SIGHTED UNTIL IT DISAPPEARED WAS FROM FIVE TO SEVEN MINUTES. AFTER THE OBJECT DISAPPEARED SOURCE AND WIFE RE-ENTERED THE HOUSE TO DRAW CONCLUSIONS OF SIGHTING.

26 FEBRUARY 1954, COLUMBUS, OHIO

On the night of 26 February 1954, an unidentified flying object was sighted near Columbus, Ohio, by civilian observers. The object appeared to be stationary and closely resembled a star in size and color. Shortly after the first observation, the object seemed to ascend vertically at a slow rate for some distance, then accelerated at a rapid rate in another direction, disappearing at a low altitude. The entire observation lasted from five to seven minutes.

This case is concluded to have been an aircraft due to its characteristics and reported air activity in the area.

Aircraft when at a distance and approaching head-on often appear to be stationary. Ascent might appear to be verticle for the same reason. After a turn is made, giving a new perspective, their acceleration is noticeable.
