COMMENTS The obj was obs on 4 & 5 Dec 54 at approx the same time by the one source. Sighting caused considerable local publicity. On 20 Dec 54, two more residents reported seeing a bright disc shaped object with a lot of windows while driving home.

20. Draw a picture that will show the motion that the object or objects made. Place an "A" at the beginning of the path, a "B" at the end of the path, and show any changes in direction during the course.

Describe in your own words a common object or objects which when placed up in the sky would give the same appearance as the object which you saw.

This is the complete report we received from the 4602nd with a suspense of 21 Mar 55. I've made a case file of it since it has attracted so much attention. My personal evaluation is as follows;

A REFLECTION PHENOMENA OF SOME SORT!

1. Source's house is located directly on the shore of Lake Erie.
2. On the nights (4 & 5 Dec 54) the obj was sighted, the source stated the weather condition as MISTY, with dull moon and no stars visible.
3. My evaluation is that the sighting was as the result of a reflection of a known object, which assumed the particular shape described by the source. It could have possibly been one of two things;

A ship on Lake Erie

As stated in one of the attached newspaper articles, this professor with St. Mary's college said he jokingly believed they were space craft which had come to observe the activity in his observatory, ~~which~~ he also said ~~was~~ the UFO's could have been attracted by the WELL-LIGHTED DOME on his observatory (which could explain the source's report of the UFO having many windows or ports apparently uniformly spaced around the disc.) This evaluation would depend on two things -

Was the dome of the observatory lighted at the time of the sighting?

How far is the observatory located from the location of the sighting?

Space Ship Hover Over North East and Sunday Before It Zooms Away

You Recognize This North East Winter Scene?

This Christmas card scene was painted by the first snowfall of last week at the James A. Donnelly home, 122 W. Main St. The little white church in the dell is the model of the old Presbyterian one in the Park between 1818 to 1861, carefully reconstructed by A. C. Farr of the Lake Shore Lumber Co. 20 years ago for the Borough Centennial. The model first set on the church lawn where the Post Office is now, then in the yard of Louis Parker, church warden, next door to Mr. Donnelly. (Photo by James Towery)

(Editor's Note: The lady's name withheld from publication by request will be disclosed to any doubting reader who calls the Breeze. Any other eye witness reports of the space ship will be so honored.)

A space ship hovered over North East Saturday and Sunday, the Breeze learned this week.

After its two visits here, it was said, the strange craft zoomed away into the clouds. A thoroughly reliable and level Breeze correspondent, who wanted to remain nameless, faithfully reported the incident.

At 20 minutes to 2 Sunday morning she knelt on the maple chair in her home overlooking the lake at Dill Park to turn out the light. She had returned from bowling in Erie a little earlier and was reading the paper before going to bed. At first glance out the window she thought she was watching a boat in distress coming in to shore.

The object resembled a fish tug, which looked to be much nearer the beach than one normally drifts, closer even than private fishing boats anchor. Because of the brilliant orange light radiating from it, the lady thought it was on fire.

The glow of a cloud-hidden moon on the water, however, revealed the thing to be suspended six or eight feet above the lake off Orchard Beach. The light it made remained steady and blindingly bright.

"If it had been a fire," the lady said, "such intensity would have been white—not orange."

During the eight or nine minutes that she watched it, the ship skittered east, then west—"so fast that by comparison a jet would be standing still."

Leaves Rosy Glow

By the time she had fetched her field glasses from the bed room where she had been watching some birds with them earlier in the day, the craft had gone. Only a rosy orange glow remained in the clouds of the western sky above the lake.

The lady's husband, when she woke him, naturally accused her of hallucinations, but the next evening any doubts she may have had herself were whisked away.

The ship again hung in the sky about midnight. This time the lady had her glasses ready and got a better look at it.

It still appeared to be about the size and shape of a tug, she said but where the rigging normally projected above deck, the space ship had a low curved glowing dome of orange. Two tiers of square windows were ranged along its sides, she said, like rows of postage stamps.

Realizing that water distances are tricky to figure, she judged it was not more than a mile away. The brilliance of the light, however, made it impossible to make out the details of the ship.

This time it rose gradually straight up and again disappeared. Although the lady sat to watch for it until long afterward, she didn't see it return.

The experience reminded her of another similar sight about a year ago—inexplicable goings-on in the sky.

"Before that," she said, "I never considered that these things really happened."

Like A Greenish Ball

She was returning home along Route 5 from the Snack Bar at 8:20 in the evening, when a greenish silver—"almost" phosphorescent—streak over the lake caused her to pull off on the Orchard Beach Road to make sure her eyes were all right. Thinking the ball-like object might be a re-

Day Basketball Game Team Abroad in '56

All proceeds will be forwarded to the National Olympic Fund to help send amateur athletes in schools, colleges, business, industry and the military services to Olympic Games in 1956.

More than a million dollars is needed to send U. S. athletes to the 1956 Olympic Games in Australia and Italy.

Immediately after the announcements of plans for an annual National Olympic Day was authorized by the Congress of the United States, Life Magazine offered full promotional support, and it was accepted by the U. S. Olympic Committee. The U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce also pledged its full cooperation on the local level.

In contrast to Russia and many other countries, participation in the Olympic Games is left entirely to the public in America.

Therefore, every man, woman and child in this country is a potential contributor to our representation in the Games—and can take pride in the accomplishments of the American team. Remember the drive's slogan:

reflection on her car window, she rolled it down and found that it was still in the sky.

It rested in the air over the lake opposite State Line. Suddenly, quicker than lightning, it hurtled toward Presque Isle and into the west.

The lady's husband thought she was crazy this time too—until the next day's paper reported that three separate and unrelated people described the same object near Ashtabula harbor ten minutes after she had seen it here.

1. This Center had very little additional information concerning the specific sighting by Mrs. ██████; however, the case was compared to past incidents with similar circumstances of locality, lighting and weather conditions. As a result of utilizing this comparison media, as well as a careful review of the data in the report, it was decided that the sighting was a PROBABLE REFLECTION of a known object, which assumed the particular shape described by the source.

2. Upon examination of the "U.S. Air Technical Information Sheet" completed by the source, it was noted that under Item 6-G, the statement, "G. Moon was out and a mist" conflicted slightly with Items 34.1 - b and 34.3 - a and b. However, it is a known fact that conditions of either haze or mist over water, are inductive to possibility of a reflection phenomena occurring.

3. As to the identity of the object involved, two possible explanations exist. It could have been a reflection of a ship on Lake Erie or a reflection from an observatory dome. This latter possibility results from a statement made in one of the newspapers inclosed with the report. In it Father R.A. Boelcke, Astronomer at St. Mary's College, Northeast, Pa., stated "half jokingly, that the missile might have been sent to reconnoiter the rooftop of his observatory, which gleams like the nose of a silver rocket by the light of the moon." It must be considered that the object could have been a reflection of the observatory dome depending upon the exact location of the observatory with respect to the source's home.
