People Are Saying . . .

FROM PUERTO RICO comes word that several residents of the Valle Hermoso Urbanization, visited the editorial offices of "El Vocero" to express their concern about the sighting of an unidentified flying object in their neighborhood skies.

They are demanding an investigation by authorities.

One lady, who asked NOT to be identified, explained that nearly every day they can observe an object which emits a bright light, which gradually darkens until it disappears. The light is described as similar to that of a camera flash and at times it changes to a red flash like the dome flash used by fire engines.

According to the informants, which include teachers, policemen and store clerks, the "object" changes position and seems to have a "circular form". They are sure it is not a plane because all of them are familiar with the air traffic to and from the neighboring Borinquen and El Mani airports.

Meantime, word has come out of Moscow, Russia, that a spot of light hovered over a town in the Caucasus for 36 hours. An airliner on a Siberian run was trailed by a mysterious object. Cars waiting at a railroad crossing near Moscow, had their motors switched off by a craft hovering overhead for 45 minutes, then abruptly flies away.

The Soviet government has taken the stand that "conventional scientific wisdom can explain everything."

However, the recent burst of interest in Moscow in puzzling phenomena like these, indicates lots of Soviet citizens don't buy the official line.

For example, "have you heard" a Soviet citizen asked "two cosmonauts returned to earth with 15 minutes of film shot from their space capsule showing a flying saucer with a crew of human-like beings?"

Another said, "It's common knowledge, isn't it, the Soviet and American governments have agreed to supress information about creatures from outer space."

Any comment?

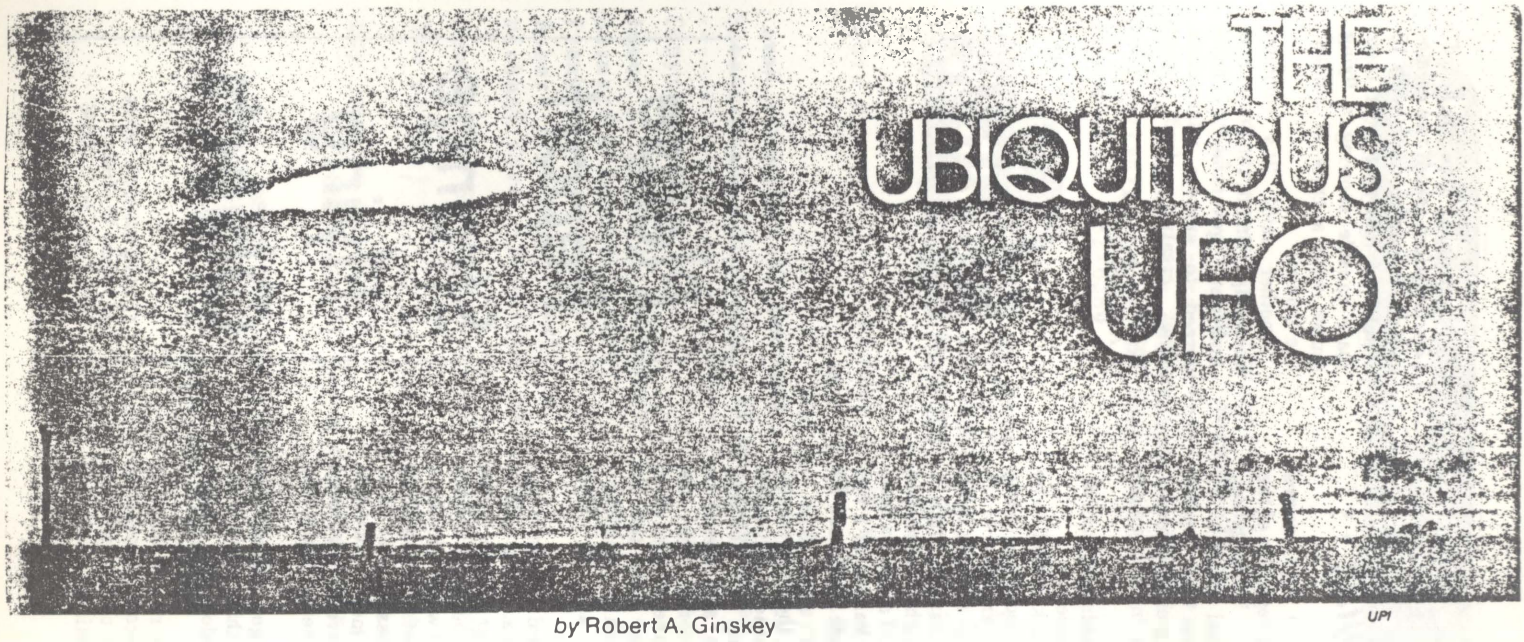
THE UBIQUITOUS UFO



UPI

by Robert A. Ginskey

Is it possible that, while science searches for primitive life on Mars and aims giant radio telescopes toward the heavens to probe for radio signals from distant civilizations, abundant evidence of extraterrestrial life can actually be found right here on Earth?

Millions of Americans apparently believe so. In fact, according to a recent Gallup poll, the majority of Americans believe that UFOs — Unidentified Flying Objects — are real and "not the figment of people's imagination." Moreover, some 15 million Americans claim to have actually seen a UFO.

A strange, glowing, cone-shaped object with dazzling colored lights moves mysteriously in the early morning Wisconsin sky as five state troopers watch with utter amazement.

Experienced pilots report chasing a silver, disk-shaped craft over Missouri — only to have it outdistance them with a tremendous burst of speed.

Two fishermen in Mississippi are reportedly abducted into a giant cigar-shaped spacecraft and "examined" by three faceless extraterrestrial creatures.

Few subjects generate more fascination than the hotly debated contention that UFOs represent some form of alien intelligence.

Actually, strange and mysterious objects have been seen in the sky for thousands of years. Even the prophet Ezekiel reported seeing an awesome "wheel within a wheel" that has served as an oft-quoted precedent for unusual sightings in the heavens.

"The appearance of the wheels and their work was . . . as it were a wheel in the middle of a wheel. When they went, they went upon their four sides: and they turned not when they went. As for their rings, they were so high that they were dreadful; and their rings were full of eyes round about them four. And when the living creatures went, the wheels went by them; and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up" (Ezek. 1:16-19).

What Ezekiel saw was apparently a "portable throne" of God, complete with representatives of the angelic host.

Yet the modern UFO era did not really dawn until just after World War II when an Idaho businessman described a formation of disk-like objects skimming through the sky "like a saucer would if you skipped it across water." From that early account came the term "flying saucer."

Since that time, UFObia, UFOria, and UFOlogists have proliferated at an amazing rate. Not even veteran pilots are immune. In fact, at one point baffling and ominous reports of "flying saucers" observed over air bases grew so worrisome that the Air Force lauched a full-scale investigation.

For 22 years, the Air Force kept track of UFO reports. Then in 1969, after investigating nearly 13,000 "phenomena," the Air Force closed Operation Blue Book, saying that further investigation could no longer "be justified either on the grounds of national security or in the interest of science."

That conclusion followed a two-year study, sponsored by the Air

"I have no quarrel with those who see unidentified flying objects. It is only when they are identified that I sometimes have misgivings."

Force and conducted by scientists at the University of Colorado under the direction of Dr. Edward U. Condon. According to the Condon Report, about 90 percent of UFO sightings proved to be "related to ordinary objects," such as planes, satellites, balloons, street lights, beacons, clouds, birds, and other natural phenomena. The report said that no evidence had been found that any UFO was a "space craft visiting earth from another civilization."

The National Academy of Sciences agreed and asserted there are "so many reasonable and possible directions in which an explanation may eventually be found that there seems to be no reason to attribute them [UFO sightings] to an extraterrestrial source without evidence that is much more convincing."

Following the Air Force study, saucerian circles cried "cover-up" and resolved to continue their quest for final proof that UFOs should be taken seriously.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of Northwestern University's astronomy department and majordomo of UFOlogy, believes the Condon Report was premature in its conclusions. "Sightings have gone on too long for it to be a fad," says Hynek. "You no longer can dismiss these reports as the result of overheated imaginations."

Indeed, the past few years have witnessed thousands of UFO sightings and a growing number of believers. Books on UFOs have become best sellers; newspaper headlines proclaim the latest developments. And who could resist at least a cursory perusal of the article entitled "A UFO Saved My Virginity"?

In 1973, after several years of relative quiet on the UFO front, a new wave of sightings brought widespread coverage from national as well as local news media. Literally hundreds of UFOs were reported sailing through the heavens.

Many of the mysterious objects turned out to be balloons. In fact, this writer has launched hydrogen-filled laundry bags with flares attached, only to hear and read the following day that "numerous highly reputable citizens saw a bewildering multi-colored UFO traveling at an enormous rate of speed."

Of course, to claim that all UFO sightings have such simple and mundane explanations would clearly be absurd. Yet the fact remains that honest and sincere individuals often misinterpret an unfamiliar object.

Last November, the world's first "serious" international UFO conference was held at Fort Smith, Arkansas. As usual, the believers attacked the Air Force and other authorities for supressing UFO reports. But despite the rhetoric, there was little new evidence to convince skeptics. Charles Hickson, one of the men allegedly "captured" by spacemen near Pascagoula, Mississippi, in 1973, repeated his tale, but prudently refused to submit to a promised lie detector test.

Yet the evidence that was presented was apparently sufficient to convince UFOnuts (more UFOmistically, UFOnauts) to continue their vigil. At the conference, Hynek, who has recently founded the Center for UFO Studies, declared that far too much time has already been wasted trying to convince non-believers of the reality of UFOs. According to Hynek, "We need to stop arguing the existence of the eggs and get down to cooking the omelet."

Hayden C. Hewes, director of the International UFO Bureau in Oklahoma City, is confident UFOs are of extraterrestrial origin. "I've diligently studied UFO reports for 19 years," he told The Plain Truth, "and I conclude we're being watched by an advanced but benign race of creatures from outer space."

Why the recent rash of sightings? "Man's warlike mentality is being propagated beyond the earth by the space program," adds Hewes, "so these peace-loving creatures are worried and have decided to make themselves known."

But UFO debunker Phillip Klass remains unconvinced. After spending thousands of hours analyzing alleged UFO encounters, Klass has concluded that the strange phenomena people describe are a combination of honest misperception, distorted sensationalism, and outright hoaxes.

UFO'S

- Why they are here.
- Who they have come for.
- When they will leave.

Not a discussion of UFO sightings, or phenomena.

Two individuals say they were sent from the level above human, and will return to that level in a space ship (UFO) within the next few months. This man and woman will discuss how the transition from the human level to the next level is accomplished, and when this may be done.

This is not a religious or philosophical organization recruiting membership. However, the information has already prompted a number of individuals to devote their total energy to the transitional process. If you have ever entertained the idea that there might be a real PHYSICAL level in space beyond the Earth's confines, you will want to attend this meeting:

misgivings. As long as people are credulous and soft-minded, and as long as their wishes determine their beliefs, there will be a market for myths and prevarications dressed up in the robes of science."

But Hynek disagrees. "I think we may be seeing the birth of a new science," contends Hynek. "The physical world we perceive with our senses is by no means the sum total of our environment."

In the final analysis, the UFO controversy persists largely because after the crank and readily explicable cases have been excluded, a nettlesome residue remains. Roughly one in 30 UFO reports seemingly defies satisfactory explanation. For these especially puzzling cases, three possible solutions exist:

1. They would be explicable in terms of conventional science and known phenomena if the observational data were only more extensive and precise. This possibility is based on the paucity of reliable information about many UFO sightings, but includes the likelihood that many unsolved UFO reports are secret military aircraft, or simply clever, sophisticated hoaxes.

2. They result from purely natural phenomena which are either not yet discovered or not yet completely understood. This possibility would include certain bizarre atmospheric occurrences, plasma (the so-called fourth state of matter), and other rarely encountered events.

3. They are, in fact, not of this world, coming from another place and time, constructed by an alien technology and intelligence. They may even be nonphysical, supernatural "spirit" beings. This possibility, while considered to be a "cop-out" by many, would at least explain the seemingly "impossible" feats that some UFOs are allegedly capable of performing.

Perhaps the final answer to the ubiquitous UFO lies in a combination of all three possibilities. In any case, reports of UFOs and extraterrestrial visitations undoubtedly will persist — if only because there are so many man-made objects in our twentieth century atmosphere and because so many people have the will to believe. □

THE UFO EXPERIENCE has an intriguing attraction for millions of people. Lectures and programs dealing with man's relationship to creatures of outer space continue to generate widespread interest.*

He cites, for example, the highly publicized "craft with 10 large square windows, brilliantly illuminated from inside the object" that many observers reported watching on March 3, 1968. Actually, claims Klass, the "strange craft from outer space" was a Russian rocket, disintegrating as it fell to earth as a man-made meteor.

On the other hand, the famous case of a UFO "landing" outside a Kansas farmhouse was actually, according to Klass, a hoax designed to generate publicity — and hopefully some money — for a family in financial difficulties.

"I acknowledge that the idea of visitors from distant worlds is a fascinating myth for adults," muses Klass. "It is especially so because it fills the void left many years ago when we outgrew the fanciful and wonderful fairy tales of our childhood, when an ugly frog could suddenly become a handsome prince."

Klass has a standing "$10,000 offer" for anyone who can actually demonstrate that UFOs are from outer space.

Astronomer and exobiologist Carl Sagan is equally skeptical. "I have no quarrel with those who see unidentified flying objects," observes Sagan. "It is only when they are identified that I sometimes have

SPACESHIPS KOLOSIMO IN PRE-HISTORY

Until now skeptics have been able to contest the discoveries and the striking analogies of that science which has been felicitously defined as the "archeology of the imagination" by pointing out lack of any visible proofs. In this book Peter Kolosimo, by a convincing series of illustrations, provides final confirmation of his remarkable thesis—that the origins of the human race and the basis of its development, hidden in the mists of prehistory, differ from those hypotheses which established evolutionary science has till now elaborated. Too many mysterious discoveries, too many incongruities, too many oddities and controversies litter the "established" progress of the development of man.

Kolosimo supports every statement that he makes with disturbing and mostly unpublished illustrations. Peter Kolosimo is one of the most widely read authors in his field. His books have been translated and have met with great success in France, Germany, Italy, the United States, Holland, Spain, Brazil, Finland, etc. He is also the author of TIMELESS EARTH.

SITUATION RED

THE UFO SIEGE

An Update on Strange and Frequently Frightening Encounters.

FOREWORD BY MAJOR DONALD E. KEYHOE

The record number of sightings in the great UFO flap of 1973 has made experts realize that the nature of these visits by mysterious observers has changed. The increasing incidence of physical injury, dangerous interference, and outright abduction by interplanetary travelers is proved by a mass of evidence. This carefully documented book presents dozens of incredible yet unimpeachable cases of common men and women who have been suddenly caught up in events stranger than the wildest science fiction. Who are these visitors to our planet? What do they want? And why does the Air Force fear disclosure of the truth? These are the questions that have created SITUATION RED, a state of emergency for man and his entire world.

Leonard H. Stringfield has been interested in UFOs ever since World War II, when he saw one while flying a C46 near Iwo Jima. He was director of CRIFO (Civilian Research, Interplanetary Flying Objects) and publisher of its newsletter, ORBIT, from 1953 to 1957. He was public relations director of NICAP (National Investigation Committee on Aerial Phenomena) from 1957 to 1970, serving under Major Donald E. Keyhoe, the best-known of all UFO researchers.

"In SITUATION RED Len Stringfield makes a valuable contribution toward ending the long Air Force censorship. Covering his twenty-six years of investigations, he presents irrefutable evidence of UFO reality and proof of the cover-up.

"Having known Len since 1953, I can confirm his detailed knowledge of the UFO problem. In recent years Len has concentrated on the puzzling and, at times, frightening effects caused by UFOs. Some writers have seized on this disturbing phase and—without careful research—have rushed out books or articles warning that we are in grave danger. In contrast, Len has carefully evaluated hundreds of U.S. and foreign "scare" reports, weeding out hoaxes and dubious claims before considering cases involving competent and reliable observers.

"As his book makes plain, something very strange, possibly serious, is going on. If an advanced alien race is observing our world, we should be told the truth—even if the Air Force does not have all the answers. The cover-up must be ended. The public should be sensibly prepared—for whatever may develop."

THE UFO ENIGMA

The Definitive Explanation of the UFO Phenomenon

Donald H. Menzel and Ernest H. Taves

This is the book that proves that "flying saucers" are not extraterrestrial vehicles bringing little green men from outer space, but illusions produced by easily explainable meteorological and optical phenomena.

Concentrating on the most widely publicized UFO sightings in this country from 1963 to 1975, Drs. Donald Menzel and Ernest Taves show in each case what really caused people to believe they were seeing flying saucers. A number were produced by atmospheric conditions, such as ice crystals or unusual lighting effects and clouds; others were the result of strange tricks played by radar; in a few instances UFO images were created by real spacecraft leaving or re-entering the atmosphere; and some sightings, of course, were pure hoaxes.

Also included in this book are a brief history of man's fascination with celestial phenomena—from biblical times to the present; an evaluation of the theories of von Däniken and of the Bermuda Triangle mystery; and a discussion of why people so firmly resist rational explanations of what they believe to be "flying saucers."

Scientific and completely up to date, this is the definitive study of the UFO phenomenon, with thought-provoking evidence for believers and skeptics alike.

SOCORRO 'SAUCER' IN A PENTAGON PANTRY

This is a book unlike any you have ever read. It is widely known that a UFO landing was reported at Socorro, New Mexico, on April 24, 1964. But most of what this book on the Socorro case tells has never before been revealed.

Socorro 'Saucer' in a Pentagon Pantry is the result of five years' intensive investigation and writing. The author is well-known UFO researcher Ray Stanford. He describes how the U.S. intelligence community managed, until now, to conceal from the public the existence of physical evidence that a technologically advanced craft of unknown origin landed at Socorro. But that is only the beginning.

While Dr. J. Allen Hynek, then scientific consultant to the Air Force's Project Blue Book, was trying unsuccessfully to get military authorities to make a serious effort to find witnesses to the landing (other than Lonnie Zamora, a Socorro policeman), Stanford was talking to two female witnesses. He reveals that there were at least twelve witnesses beside Zamora, and even names and shows photos of two additional male observers of the landing.

In Socorro 'Saucer' we travel with Stanford and colleagues into a laboratory of the space materials division of Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Maryland. There, metallic slivers actually scraped from the UFO landing gear onto an adjacent rock were analyzed. We learn of the strange result of that analysis, and discover the reason the intelligence community found it necessary to attempt to hide the facts.

This account is replete with documentation. Even the most seasoned UFO investigator will find vitally important new facts and evidence in nearly every chapter of this book. Socorro 'Saucer' could touch off a UFOlogical 'Watergate' that might once and for all blow open the doors of what the author calls "the Pentagon saucer pantry."

PSYCHIC SPY

The story of an astounding man

Here for the first time is the incredible story of Dr. Ernesto A. Montgomery, the Jamaican psychic and faith-healer who used his uncanny abilities on behalf of the Allies in World War II.

As a sixteen-year-old private in the Jamaican Home Guard, Montgomery was assigned to a special Psychic Division of British Intelligence. Through prolonged periods of soul-travel (projection of the soul out of the body into psychic levels), he arrived at amazingly accurate prophecies. For example, he played a previously secret role in the timing of the Normandy invasion.

Storms were predicted for June 1944 but Montgomery discovered—through soul-travel—that the weather would break on June 6–7. Invasion plans proceeded. However, as of June 5, hurricane-force winds were buffeting the French coast. Then, on the sixth, the storm broke and D day was on.

Clifford Linedecker depicts Dr. Montgomery's continued development and achievement as a minister, faith-healer, and psychic advisor—including his many startling (and correct) predictions about such events as the assassinations of John and Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King, the gruesome Manson murders, the untimely deaths of Marilyn Monroe and Errol Flynn, and the return to power of Sir Winston Churchill.

Also outlined are his spiritual philosophy, methods of faith-healing, and techniques for self-realization and self-help. Finally, read his mind-boggling predictions for the future.

Clifford L. Linedecker was born in Plymouth, Indiana. He is a long-time newspaperman, working as a reporter for the Philadelphia Inquirer before becoming Articles Editor for the National Features Syndicate, which publishes The National Tattler and other weekly newspapers.

Boy Says He Saw UFO; His Camera Offers Proof

Ricky Brandenburg, 13, thought he saw a UFO about 4 p.m. March 10 so he ran into his home at 3153 Norwhch Court grabbed his Instamatic camera, and went to his backyard and began snapping pictures.

He took a total of six pictures and then he noticed the silver object he had been watching "just seemed to disappear into the clouds."

After the object disappeared, Ricky went back into his house and began telling his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morce H. Brandenburg, what he had witnessed.

THEY LISTENED to their son's story about how he had seen a silver disc-shaped object with a clear plastic-like dome circling the neighborhood as he walked home from School 108.

And they listened as Ricky told them about the pictures he had taken and he would prove to them he wasn't joking.

His father admitted yesterday that he thought the story was something from the imagination of a younghster who dreamed of outer space.

Morce Brandenburg said he didn't see a story in The Indianapolis Star the morning of March 11 which explained that several persons had called police the previous night about spotting a UFO on the north and west sides.

Indiana State Police said the callers sae a meterorite shower which was visible from Cincinnati, Ohio to St. Louis, Mo.

HIS FATHER questioned him about the UFO, and although the boys said he didn't know for sure what it was, he believed it was a real flying saucer. "I wouldn't know what a fake one looked like and this sure looked real to me," Ricky said.

Brandenburg, an employe of Trans World Airlines, said he even laughed a little when Ricky told him the object was spinning "really, really fast but it wasn't making any noise.'

But the youngster said he knew what he had seen so the next morning it was off to the drugstore with the film.

And when the word came the pictures were developed, Ricky and his father were off to the store on Friday.

Morce laughed just a little as his son hurridedly opened the package and then said, "See dad, I told you."

Morce Brandenburg isn't laughing anymore.

OTHER WORLDS, OTHER UNIVERSES

New concepts, new worlds, new states of being are what this book is about—a breathtaking journey through time and space to the limits of the cosmos. It is also a jorney to the center of the mind—an amazing look at the interreaction of matter, energy, and consciousness. Psychic phenomena have been documented, though they remain unexplained. UFO's have been photographed, but are still unbelievable. "Lost" civilizations of mythology are slowly being rediscovered as fact. It is a scientific probability that there are billions of planets in other solar systems that may support life. What do these mean for our understanding of reality, of history?

THE UFO CONTROVERSY IN AMERICA

by DAVID MICHAEL JACOBS

FOREWORD by J. Allen Hynek

The story of the UFO controversy in the United States is told in detail in this definitive history, which uses previously inaccessible Air Force documents, personal interviews, private correspondence, and a wealth of published and unpublished materials.

The author explores the interdependent relationship between the Air Force, the scientific community, the national UFO organizations, the bizarre "contactees," the press, and the entertainment industry which resulted in an often shocking ignorance of and disregard for the potentially significant UFO phenomenon. He reveals the reasons for the misleading and often deceptive measures that the Air Force, at the CIA's instigation, engaged in to debunk UFO reports, prevent Congressional. A well documented study of the UFO phenomenon and society's response to it. — 6¼x9¼/Cloth/384 pgs/Index/Photos/$12.50
